EXHIBITION ROOM TARTESSIAN LEBRIJA

Making heritage accessible to the society is the reason that activates the town hall to promote a new cultural place inside the Casa de la Cultura, the TARTESSIAN LEBRIJA room. It has clear objectives: contributing to the interpretation and diffusion of this historic period of our city, revealing meanings to the public with first hand experiences and illustrative media.

The TARTESSIAN LEBRIJA room expects to give the enough key points and tools to let the population understand the relevance of the archaeological pieces known as 'Candelabros de Lebrija', apporting the context and circumstances that encircled its discovery in 1923 and, above all, it helps us to approach the culture and territory they belonged.

This initiative was born with the ambition of having a place for the enjoyment of the heritage from an inclusive perspective, where everyone of the potential users have the opportunity to penetrate, with a didactic and comprehensive way, into different aspects of the material and immaterial culture of Tartessos. A path to read, contemplate, touch, listen, but also for informing, communicating, interpreting and educating in an entertaining way about our history and its capacity to generate sensibilization towards the cultural goods.
